POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

California has produced more than its share of famous political personalities—Herbert Hoover, the nation's only living ex-President; redoubtable Hiram W. Johnson, still shaking his shaggy head in the United States Senate; Socialist-Novelist Upton Sinclair, who startled the country with EPIC, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the modern pension movement; "Sunny Jim" Rolph, the West Coast's Jimmy Walker; the amazing Allen boys who crashed headlines with "funny money", colorful Boss Tom Finn of San Francisco, and Oakland's amiable powerful Mike Kelly.

There are, of course, scads of others, but in all the galaxy of California's political notables, living or dead, there is no carbon copy of that chuckling, good - humored, wise, old Machiavelli—Friend W. Richardson!

A day or two ago, the writer received a booklet from Friend W., entitled "Governor and 'Ma' Richardson," issued in commemmoration of their golden wedding anniversary—a simple, human document of a grand couple, first written for the "Pacific Printer" by Charles McIntyre. And because, as a young newspaper correspondent, we used to "pan" Friend W., with great glee and abandon—and have never before taken time off to make amends—we have decided to add our few words of tribute to a man who improves on acquaintance, and to the robust, smiling woman who once presided over the gubernatorial mansion at Sacramento.

Men mellow with time, happily, and changes in the political winds often make cronies of politicians who once thundered invectives at each other from a hundred platforms. Certainly that has been true in the case of Friend W. Richardson. Numbered among his staunchest friends today are many who fought him bitterly throughout his campaigns for Governor and during the four years he spent in "the corner office." Friend W., too, has changed a bit with the years. As Governor, Friend W. was a good lusty "hater." He could insult a delegation, whose principles he disliked, or whose sincerity he distrusted, with salty thoroughness and a glorious disregard for political consequences. And after they had left, old Machiavelli (he doesn't mind that description) would put his feet up on the big mahogany desk in the Governor's office and laugh uproariously. But Friend W., too, has always had another characteristic of the really successful men in politics—a fine, fierce loyalty for his friends, which lasted long after the fury of his attacks on his enemies had subsided.

No plaster saint is Friend W., nor would he wish to be considered one, but as Governor he saved the state's money with the same frugal care he saved his own—and as a man, he wears well. Dean of the country press, veteran of 22 years in public office, cross-word puzzle addict and political strategist with few equals, Friend W. is a man's man—and a man who still chuckles as he plots his next move on the checkerboard of politics. As we said at the start, there is no carbon copy!

J. W. KNOWLES ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knowles were hosts Tuesday evening at a dinner party preceding a meeting in San Jose of poultry producers at which Bill Newlon of San Jose, one of their guests, was speaker.

Places were laid for Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Daugherty, Mr. Newlon, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Schommer of San Jose, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Peterson of Campbell.

Daugherty was former head of the poultry division at Davis, and now in the San Francisco office of the Poultry Producers of Central California; Newlon is head of the poultry extension department of U. C.; Schommer is manager of the Santa Clara county branch of the Poultry Producers and Peterson is head of the feed department of the San Jose branch of the same organization.

Campbell Drops Encounter To Mountain View

Sparked by fullback Bud Kamerschen, Mt. View's championship varsity defeated Campbell High's Buccaneers to the tune of 24-0.

A poor pass defense was the result of two scores by the Eagle eleven. A sustained drive in the first quarter, and a drive over from the five by Kamerschen ,accounted for another, while a long run from the Mt. View 45 yard line accounted for another.

The Buccaneers drove to the Eagle seven in the last quarter but a fourth down pass was intercepted by Kamerschen, who ran ninety-five yards to a touchdown, but it was called back as the result of a shoving penalty against Mt. View.

Neither team threatened in the closing minutes of play. Mt. View never once converted in four attempts.

The Footlighter Benefit Comedy Well Received

An appreciative audience estimated at between four and five hundred persons Friday evening witnessed The Footlighters' production "It Pays to Advertise' 'in the high school auditorium.

Staged principally as a community chest benefit, the farce ran through three rollicking acts and proved to be a fine vehicle for the carefully selected cast.

Directed by Paul Becker, who also played a leading role, the principals, including Helen Wrigglesworth, Lenore Weaver, Robert Weaver and Jack Murdock turned in a sterling performance. The supporting cast which was, according to many followers of local theatricals, one of the best ever seen on Campbell boards, included Martha Parr, D. H. Cramer, Ira Grim, J. F. Levenberg, Gene Hodges, Evelyn Shumway and Herold Morton.

Technical and advertising assistance was ably rendered by Tex Leverton, Ethan Lanphear, Dean Chamberlin, Vivian Becker and the high school art department.

The Footlighters take this opportunity to publicy thank all those who contributed to the play's sucess.

Mrs. Johnson Called by Death

Mrs. Myrtle Walker Johnson, wife of the late Frank A. Johnson passed away Saturday, Oct. 18, near Los Gatos, the city of her birth on May 12, 1875.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Place Funeral Home in Los Gatos, Rev. N. S. Hammack, officiating, the services under the auspices of Ada Rebekah Lodge, No. 223 of Campbell, of which she had been an active member for many years. Officers serving were Mrs. Ellen Arnold, N. G.; Mrs. Josephine Gray, V. G.; Mrs. Josephine Keesaman, chaplain, and staff.

Pall bearers were William Bachman, Al. Bulmore, Walter Silberbauer, Arthur Robinson, Walter Smily and J. G. Burns.

Interment was in Los Gatos cemetery.

Surviving members of her family are a son Robert P. Johnson, a daughter, Mrs. Alice Smith ,and grandsons Duane L. Smith and Robert W. Johnson.

La Hacienda in Los Gatos will be the next meeting place of the Sigma Sigma club. The members will gather for their annual Hallow'en dinner at 6:30 o'clock, on Tuesday, Oct. 28. Miss Helen Buck is in charge of the arrangements and Mrs. Marie Simonds and Mrs. Eulah Blaine will assist her with the decorating. All reservations must be made with Miss Buck or Mrs. Grace Page by Sunday, Oct. 26.

Campbell Future Farmers To Show Livestock Oct. 25

The annual Sears, Roebuck and company livestock show will be held at the San Jose civic auditorium, Saturday, Oct. 25 from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The purpose of this fair is for the exhibition of all pure bred swine won by F. F. A. members in the essay contest held last spring by Sears, Roebuck.

The four boys entering from Campbell chapter are: Huxley Galbraith, Jack Farnham, Elmer Stinson and Ciro Mancuso. Each of these boys will receive an order for 50 baby chicks, regardless of the outcome of the judging and will compete with about 84 other boys for first prize of $100 scholarship to California Polytechnic school; second prize, a grade dairy heifer; and third prize, a pure bred boar.

The judging will start at 10 a. m. and should be completed by 12 noon.

Hoop Teams To Play Los Gatos Friday

Bolstered by the fact that Robert Amaro had decided not to move until after the basketball season ,the Campbell High school 110 and 120 teams look forward toward their encounter with the Los Gatos teams with considerable confidence. The game is called for Friday, Oct. 25 at 7:30 p. m. in the local gym.

Del Grande, outstanding center for the 120's, will be on the bench a good part of the game with a bad cold. The 120's are showing a lot of fire in their defensive game this year, but they lack the shooting eyes necessary to run up the scores of their side of the tally sheet.

This game should give the local boys a chance to show their stuff after losing one out of two to Washington two weeks ago, and drawing a pass last week.

County Health Clinic At School

New this year is the Campbell Union High school branch of the County Health Clinic. This service is being offered free to children of pre-school age on the third Thursday of each month.

The clinic, opened during the summer months, is under the direction of Dr. Ernest Hockenbeamer, pediatrician and his assistants.

Students are urged to tell their parents and friends of this public clinic.

Lightweight Contest Today

After battling Santa Clara to a 6-6 deadlock, the freshman-sophomore team tangles with the Fremont Indians on the local field at 3 p. m. today.

TAXES ARE PAYABLE

Roy P. Emerson, county tax collector, has started to prepare 68,000 tax bills for mailing to Santa Clara county tax payers. All bills should be in the tax payers' hands by Oct. 28 and any one who has not received his tax bill by that date should get in touch with Mr. Emerson's office in the Hall of Justice, San Jose.

The general county tax rate set by the Santa Clara county board of supervisors shows an increase of one cent and three mills on inside and one cent and four mills on outside taxes. Last year the total county outside rate was $1.52 compared to $1.534 for 1941-1942.

Enclosed with the tax statements mailed is a detailed schedule of tax rates showing, in addition to tax rates applying in each revenue district, a chart indicating how the county tax dollar is spent. Emerson says that each tax payer should read this important information and familiarize himself with it.

Also enclosed is a return envelope, an innovation started by Emerson when he first took office, in which a tax payer may mail his remittance in to the tax collector's office and thus eliminate congestion at the cashier windows.

Emerson also is mailing to the tax payers in the Campbell Sanitary District their sanitary tax bills along with the regular bills.

The first installment of taxes becomes due on Nov. 1 and is delinquent on Dec. 5. If not paid before Dec. 5, the tax laws require a penalty of eight percent be added to the tax payer's bill. The second installment may be paid with the first, if any one so desires.

Rubell Takes Own Life

The news that William H. Rubell had taken his own life, using a shot gun, was a shock to the many friends of himself and family here.

After the rumor last week that he planned such an act had proved false, and he had denied any intent, his mother, Mrs. Emma J. Rubell and sister, Mrs. Claudine Hancock, both of Campbell, were nearly prostrated by the telephone call telling of the finding of his car and body on the Blossom Hill Road.

For many years Billie Rubell, as he was commonly called, operated a garage in San Jose, but more recently conducted a grocery store.

He had been active in times past in several fraternal organizations and civic bodies in San Jose.

Private services will be held tomorrow (Friday) with inurnment, Chapel of the Roses.

Powder Flasks

In the days of muzzle-loading guns, natives of Central America made powder flasks from the bills of toucans.

"Old Glass" Is Interesting Topic At Club Meeting

Members and guests of the Country Woman's club met on Monday at an antique tea to hear Mrs. F. E. Peake of Campbell speak on "Old Glass." Mrs. Peake traced the history of glass and explained the various types and patterns. She described the work of such famous names as Stiegel, Wistar and Sanwich. Mrs. Peake believes that bits of old glass can easily fit into our modern decorative schemes. She said, "An old piece of glass, like a perfect lady or gentleman, makes its own place and feels quite at home in any company." In closing Mrs. Peake suggested "We should all try to preserve our pieces of old glass as part of American living and historic past." Mrs. Peake illustrated her talk by pieces of glas on display. Some of the pieces were from her own collection and others were loaned by members of the club.

Mrs. George Jeffers, president of the club, welcomed members and their guests and introduced the honored guests. These were Mrs. E. I. Price, first president of the club; Mrs. Florence Ohler, president of the county federation: Mrs. Elizabeth Hult, radio chairman for the county federation; and Miss Ruby Howes, president of We and Our Neighbors club.

Mrs. W. R. Morgan, chairman of the day, introduced the program. Others on her committee were Mrs. Herbert Shadle, Mrs. J. A. Forward, Mrs. L. C. Shank, Mrs. H. E. Hansen, Mrs. Ellis Crane and Mrs. G. W. Burrow.

The club chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Rutherford, sang the following songs: the theme song, "United States of America," "Southern Melodies," and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms." The chorus is composed of Mrs. J. D. Blaine, Mrs. W. C. Bohnett, Mrs. W. E. Grattan, Mrs. Ira Grim, Mrs. Ralph Hyde, Mrs. C. P. Klassen, Mrs. R. E. Hanger, Mrs. J. O. Leverton and Mrs. Hubert Wagner.

After the program tea was served at an attractive table with Mrs. R. H. Hyde and Mrs. E. R. Kennedy pouring.

The room was decorated with large bouquets of autumn foliage and flowers and a lovely display of old glass.

Mrs. W. F. Grattan announced that the next meeting of the club will be held on Nov. 3. The topic for the day will be "Facts Little Known of Our Presidents and Statesmen."

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Bachman and daughter Lois, motored to San Francisco last week to see Ruth Matteson in "The Male Animal." Miss Matteson, a life-time friend of the Bachmans, accompanied them home for a brief visit and spent a day in San Jose with her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Main and family.

RENDEZVOUS AT DAWN

This month every California duck hunter has a rendevous with the morning sun—a rendevous of split-second timing, for the law says that at sunrise the hunter may open fire.

A blindfolded man on tour of the principal duck hunting areas of the state could tell where he was by asking the time as the opening volleys rang out—he could even tell the day of the month! Take October 27 as a random date. The first duck gun will roar that morning in the Los Angeles area at exactly 6:08; in Humbolt county at 6:38; Moro Bay, 6:20; Lancaster, 6:08; San Diego, 6:02; Imperial, 5:54; Los Banos, 6:21; Modoc, 6:23; West Wood, 6:25; Colusa, 6:31, and San Francisco Bay areas at 6:30.

The duck season brings only chillier, grayer mornings through advancing winter to early risers who leave their beds for mundane tasks. But to the true duck hunter—cheered by reports from the Canadian border south that the duck population is huge and active this autumn—that moment of his rendezvous at dawn will be the highlight of all days until the season ends in December.

VALIANT LADY

There was a terrible day in 1937 for Mrs. Lois Moore of Oakland. The young, pretty, happy housewife lost both legs when a foot became imprisoned in a pavement hole between the tracks of an interurban train. The other day a San Francisco reporter, J. Campbell Bruce, wondered about Mrs. Moore and went to her home. She came to the door. Her life? Well, it is a busy one. She holds down a job as secretary, drives her car to work, and she launders and cooks. Now and then she finds an evening for her favorite recreation — dancing! She has improved in looks, she said, "My artificial legs are nicer looking than my own were—and I wear a size 5 shoe instead of an 8."

There is much of frustration and fear today in the lives of millions. Young men are called from jobs to arms, war clouds thicken and parents worry, industries are thrown out of gear by the emergency. Yet rarely has anyone been called upon to face a shock such as this California girl faced, surmounted—and laughed at. Valiant is the word for Lois Moore. The story of her courage is a good story for all to hear in these days when doubt is so rife and high valor so precious a commodity.

WHEN WITCHES RIDE

You're going to hear the welkin ring one evening, and it won't be due to an armistice, nor any declaration of peace. On the contrary, it will be a declaration of war on peace and quiet.

The night of Oct. 31 is like that, and has been for centuries. It can't be helped. It just happens to be the season when witches ride, when grinning pumpkins leer cheerfully at you from windows, when fantastic masks leap out from behind bushes, when soap and window panes come into intimate conjunction as the star-gazers would say. And it's the time when sober-sided citizens come into collision with prankish goings-on, unless they cheerfully make the best of that madcap spirit. This is the only philosophic way for oldsters to take it, while impish youth dishes t out.

Don't say you weren't warned that Hallowe'en's at hand agan!

The gay 'nineties' popular means of locomotion is staging a comeback on all two wheels. Yes, it's the bicycle whose production figures, on the upturn for the past several years, are now climbing at an unprecedented rate. Last year's record was 1,325,000. This year's will be far higher. With metal shortages on the upgrade, maybe there's even hope for Dobbin!

NAVY DAY, 1941

For the first time in history, on October 27, men of the United States Navy will celebrate Navy Day in the certainty that the fleet they man is destined to be the largest in the world, the best equipped, the best trained and the most effective in every department. By 1946 the vast building program will have more than doubled the present total of 338 ships!

Fully as important as its growth in tonnage and fire power will be greater Navy's scientific balance. For the Navy is building realistically to blueprints drawn fresh from direct observance of naval warfare, 1941 model. Today all theories of sea warfare— attack and defense and cooperation of battleship and airplane, destroyer and submarine — are constantly under test in battle; and American strategists and designers, with their own job to do, observe the tests closely. The Navy has its secrets, but apparently the new super fleet will not be solely a "big ship" force, not a super scouting force, nor a floating air arm. Likely it will present in one collective sea giant the greatest battle line, the greatest fleet of submarines, the largest scouting force, and what is conceded already by all authorities to be the world's best coordinated aviation unit.

To California, facing the broad Pacific, thought of that invincible Navy guarding western shores should be of special comfort on Navy Day, 1941.

CAUTION, DANGEROUS ROADS

Safety councils and highway officials are beginning early to remind motorists that the most dangerous driving months of the year are close at hand.

Through summer and fall, California drivers become accustomed to dry pavements, with dangers from high speeds and skidding at the minimum. But those who fail to prepare for winter's rains and fogs and poor visibility—checking brakes and tires, changing their tempo of driving—will provide a sad grist of winter accidents.

Pointed out repeatedly by safety groups as a growing menace on California roads, is the steadily increasing commercialization of a highway system designed for use by pleasure cars. Every driver is familiar with the sight of narrow highways, curves and hills with the lineup of high-speed cars damned behind slow-moving monster trucks. Accidents are frequent when exasperated motorists "take the chance" of getting around such vehicles. Other accidents occur when cars strike holes in pavements broken by tremendous weights they were never built for.

This safety problem has been brought to a head currently by the Interstate Commerce Commission in a move to lobby through Congress a bill to take the power to regulate weights and sizes of trucks in interstate commerce from the state governments and transfer this power to the ICC. At one stroke, such a measure would tie the hands of California voters and officials in any program to solve a most serious traffic problem — and plainly would lay legal foundation for further federal encroachment on California sovereignty over California highways and motor vehicles. There is worse menace, in the opinion of safety experts, in the ICC's proposal than in the driving dangers of a dozen bad winters. It is to be hoped that no move will be permitted which might add to those dangers.

Whatever their individual worries about taxes, priorities and other perplexities of the times in their private affairs, the collective opinions of delegates to the Redwood Empire association's 21st annual convention at Eureka was cheerful regarding the future of one major industry of all California—the tourist trade. The reasons advanced seem sound.

There may be fewer dollars left for pleasure after Uncle Sam passes the tax hat for defense—but the cost of a trip to hospitable California will still remain within the reach of most vacationers. No one knws how many years must pass before foreign travel becomes inviting again. In coming years more and more Americans will learn to know their land and love it. Meanwhile, advice to those eager to roam the land should be: "Go West—to California!"

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Just what is inflation and how can it be minimized?

A. Inflation is a decrease in the buying power of the dollar caused by a rising cost of living. This, in turn, is brought about by a heavy public demand, resulting from a rapid increase in the national income, for things which cannot be produced in large enough quantities. Every citizen can help minimize inflation by buying Defense Bonds and Stamps.

Q. How can I get cash for my Defense Stamps if I should need to redeem them?

A. Go to any post office.

ROWE'S RAMBLINGS

By Ted Rowe

A customer gave us a shock the other day. She asked us why we never advertised.

Imagine our surprise, as we have advertised.

When we told her we did advertise and showed her an ad to prove it, she said, "Yes, but they look so much like all the rest, why don't you doll them up a bit so they'll be easior to catch?"

That set us to thinking. Maybe she was right.

We thought of a lot of ways to make the ads sensational but decided that columnists got more readers than most writers. So we decided to try our hand as a columnist.

Now we don't expect to be a Winchell or an Irvin S. Cobb, but we'll try to give you a few smiles now and then.

And yes, you're right, we will probably talk a little bit about the gasoline business.

So wait for our literary efforts in the issues to come.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

Two-Way Passage by Louis Adamic.

"I happen to be a native of a country within Yugoslavia," said the author as he was relating his emotional experiences from reports by radio and newspaper about Hitler's 'swallowing' of his 'old country.'

Yes, my dear readers, this book is another one of those war stories—but it's different. Because it takes little more time to read it than the ordinary book, your Book Mark was able to absorb much of its contents.

Every American will learn something from this book. The 'old stock' Americans, the first ,second, third and fourth generations of American Yugoslavians, Belgians, Serbians, Croatians ,and many other peoples of European descent will get ideas from it. Anybody can get ideas from reading it. Yes, ideas that if put to work will help get this crazy world back to civilization.

The author relates incidents, real and dramatic, in the lives of American born Jews, Germans, Czechoslovakians and others, that will help all Americans comprehend the reason for the lack of unity in their country.

Mr. Adamic has traveled much, both abroad and in America, for the one and only objective—that of putting before the people of America his idea of straightening out the twisted, unhappy universe.

"We all came from somewhere; from many lands. That was the Passage Here. Now we've got to go back. This is the Passage Back. We've got to take to Europe our American revolution, our accumulated American experience." So says Louis Adamic.

Before the last reader was finished with the book, lacking only a small part, of course, he banged it against his knee with a happy and enthusiastic punch. "By George," he said, "it's great. There's something to think about, to talk about and to help get rolling."

"We've got to show Europe the American way," the reader self-convinced, remarked.

Friends of E. C. Strayer will be glad to learn that he was brought home from Mills hospital in San Mateo yesterday. He is reported as recovering satisfactorily from the serious injuries he received in an automobile accident more than two weeks ago.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

This topsy-turvy world, with its sudden and radical shifts from over-production to scarcity, usually followed by subsequent shifts from shortages to surpluses, plays strange pranks on the farmer.

The 1942 production goals for American agriculture, according to Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, are the highest in the nation's history, with farmers being urged to join in an all-out drive to produce for all the nations which stand between this country and Hitler.

Pushed aside now is all the talk of production-curtailment and "plowing under" which characterized the New Deal program of a few years ago, and that old shibboleth of World War days—"Food will win the war and write the peace"—is back in the headlines again.

There is a striking similarity between the statements of today and the statements which were made back in 1917 and 1918.

"The goals of 1942 call for the largest production in the history of American agriculture," asserts Secretary Wickard, "but we are not going to have to plow up the hills and the plains to get it. We have adequate reserves of feed grains for increased production of livestock products and it will not be necessary materially to increase total crop acreage next year."

In the last part of that statement, there is a note of caution, born, perhaps, of a recognition of the chaotic conditions which followed World War No. 1, when American agriculture—geared to produce for the whole world — was left literally holding the bag after the armistice.

The 1942 program, as outlined by the Secretary of Agriculture, emphasizes increased production of hogs, eggs, evaporated milk, dry skim milk, cheese and chickens—products most vitally needed by the British ,as well as American consumers. The plan also calls for unlimited sugar production, nearly double peanut production, slightly increased acreage of corn and other feed crops, more soy beans and potatoes, and 1,329,000 more home gardens.

Mr. Wickard has set a '42 goal of 125 billion pounds of milk compared with an estimated 1941 production of less than 117 billion pounds.

Production of eggs would be increased from 3,676,000,000 dozen to four billion dozen.

There will be need, Mr. Wickard reported, for 8 million more hogs to be slaughtered this year; 3 million beef and veal animals; 70 million chickens; and 500,000 more lambs and sheep.

The corn acreage goal was set for about 3 million more acres next year; oats, 2 million; barley was reduced about 300,000 acres; grain sorghums increased to about 250,000 acres; and hay for next year about one million acres.

The cotton acreage goal was re-established at about the same as the 23,519,000 planted this year. The 1942 wheat goal will be between 50 and 55 million acres, compared with 63,503,000 this year.

Mr. Wickard established the rice goal for 1942 at 1,200,000 acres, compared to 1,186,000 this year. The white potato goal was raised about 72,000 acres and sweet potatoes about 7,000 acres.

The program calls for an increase from 1,843,000 to 1,935,000 acres of vegetables for fresh use and from 1,487,000 to 1,500,000 for processing. And it sets a goal of 1,329,000 more acres for farm gardens.

All of which indicates that American agriculture is expected to hit its peak production next year, with its products destined to play a dramatic and vital part in the battle to stave off Hitler's dreams of world conquest. It is to be hoped, however, that the lessons of the first World War will help to avoid another calamity for American agriculture when the war is dine; and what farmers will realize that, since no working solution has yet been found for the ups and downs of successive periods of prosperity and adversity, they should pay off their debts while they can, and accumulate reserves for the inevitable time of depression which will follow.

KNIT FOR DEFENSE

The United States Army says that the men in the camps need knitted sweaters this winter, and the women of America are being asked to provide them through the Citizens Committee for the Army and Navy, Inc., of which W. P. Fuller, Jr., of San Francisco, is the regional chairman.

The Committee does not want anyone to stop knitting for the Red Cross, the British Relief, or for any other good cause—it simply says "Please include in your knitting a sweater for an American soldier."

Specifications for the officially approved army sweater, call for a sleeveless, V-neck, slip-on, in regulation khaki yarn, knitted in rib-stitch, with a four inch band of heavy knitting at the waist and a one inch ribbed border around the neck and armholes. The sweater is shorter than those of World War I, as it is to be worn under the new U. S. short field coat.

The army also asks that knitters confine their efforts to this one type of sweater, and eliminate other items.

Plans for the drive are simple. Women are asked to buy the regulation yarn at their local stores.

Instructions for V-neck, sleeveless sweater in size 36, size 38 and size 40.

Materials Required:

10 ounces of 4-ply knitting worsted—color KHAKI.

1 pair No. 5 needles 14 in. standard gage(for ribbing).

1 pair No. 6 needles, 14 in., standard gage (for body of sweater).

Scale: — 4½ stitches to 1 inch and 6 rows to 1 inch.

These instructions are written in Size 36 with changes given in brackets for sizes 38 and 40.

BACK:—With No. 5 needles cast on 82 stitches, (86 for Size 38), (90 for size 40), and work in ribbing of knit 2 stitches, purl 2 stitches, for 4 inches.

Change to No. 6 needles and work in stockinette stitch (knit 1 row, purl 1 row) until work measures 10½ inches from start. Now bind off 5 stitches at the beginning of each of the next 2 rows for underarms then decrease 1 stitch every other row 10 times each side of armholes. Work even until back measures 10½ inches straight up from the bound off stitches of underarm, then bind off 7 stitches, (8 stitches for Size 38), (9 stitches for Size 40), at the beginning of each of the next 4rows from shoulders. Change to No. 5 needles and work the remaining stitches in ribbing of knit 2 stitches, purl 2 stitches, for 6 rows, bind off.

Instructions will be completed next week.

Local Men Hurt At Permanente

Two Campbell men, employed at Permanente, were in the news the past week. Hugh Clement of North Central avenue had the remarkable experience of coming out unscathed after experiencing an electrical shock of 60,000 volts.

He was laying a cement floor at the plant when a wet two-by-four he was carrying came in contact with a live wire. Knocked unconscious he fell into some wet cement from which fellow-workers pulled him out, supposedly dead, but artificial respiration was successful in restoring him in a comparatively short time.

Earl Buck of Milton avenue was much less fortunate in the explosion which occured Saturday, in which he was one of several severely burned. Reports from the hospital continue to be favorable and state that he is progressing satisfactorily.

Sixth Annual Concert Series To Open In San Jose

The opening of the sixth annual San Jose concert series on Tuesday evening, Nov. 4, in the civic auditorium, San Jose, with the two Metropolitan opera stars, Lotte Lehmann and Lauritz Melchior ,looks to be one of the greatest concert attractions yet to be heard in San Jose.

Lotte Lehmann is probably not only one of the greatest singers of Wagnerian opera in dramatic soprano roles, but is a concert singer whom many critics rate as the very greatest in the world.

Lauritz Melchior is a heroic tenor, also famous in Metropolitan Wagnerian roles. His Parsifal, Tristan, Tannhauser, Seigfried and Siegmund are among the greatest in Metropolitan annals. Melchior is today the leading heroic tenor in the opera houses of this country. His appearance in joint recital with the great Lehmann is of epochal importance to the song world.

Tickets for the Lehmann-Melchior concert on Nov. 3 are on sale at the civic auditorium box office, as well as season tickets for the entire San Jose series.

PRESS STARTS NEW VOLUME

Today we start Volume 42 of the Campbell Press. This is only the period of continuous publication under the name of Press, which at one time was titled "The Interurban Press," later changed to "The Campbell Press" and now shortened to "Campbell Press."

A paper was established here in 1890 known as "The Visitor" but in transition in those early days a break in records occur so that the present volume number indicates only part of the story.

The paper has recorded many changes in Campbell, seeing it grow from a tiny settlement to the present large prosperous community with all its many advantages.

In entering upon another year, we, of the office force, unite in expressing our appreciation of all who are patrons of the paper and pledge our continued efforts to work for the best interests of the Campbell community.

The Campbell Press is your paper as well as ours.
